

LAZTANA GRAN RESERVA 2016

DOCa Rioja

Olarra's approach to what modern Rioja should be like since 1985

VINEGROWING

The grapes we used to make LAZTANA Gran Reserva came from our vineyards located around Logroño, located then in Rioja Ata, Rioja Alavesa and Rioja Oriental. Vines in these vineyards are all trained in the traditional gobelet way, the average age of the vines is over 30 years, and the væt majority of our vineyards are siting on alluvid soils rich in clay and limestone.

Approximate mix of grapes is as follows: 80% Tempranillo, 10% Garnacha, the remaining 10% Mazuelo. Harvests took place later than usual, well into late October, once the fruit was consid ered to have reached full ripeness. Subsequent selection ensured that only grapes in healthy shape made it through to the winema king process.

WINEMAKING

Fermentation and maceration lasted for a total of 18 days and were performed in stainless steel vats at a controlled temperature of 26-28 °C.

Later on, the wine was racked into new Alier oak 225-litre casks where the malolactic fermentation took place, followed by a stay on lees for nearly three months, with regular batonage.

AGEING

The wine was racked into new αk barrels after the malolactic fermentation where it remained for a further six months. Afterwards, the rest of the oak c a k ageing up to the total 27 months was done in different barrels, Allier and Missouri, all with medium minus toast, and with different ages spanning from brand new to 5 years. After fining,the wine was bottledand stored in our bottle cellar for 40 months, before it started to be released

TASTING NOTES

At the time of release, this wine showed a deep red colour with shades of ruby on the rim of the glass. On the nose, the wine displayed a remarkable balance between raisin and mature fruit aromas and those of spices and toast. Since release, aromas have developed further, and aromas of leather, coffee beans and dry plums start to show.

Mouthfeel remains velvety-smooth and with a pleasantly long and fresh finish.

When considering food, grilled $\,$ red meat σ game dishes, spicy and marinated fish, and cured cheese are all excellent choices.
